WILL NOT INTERFERE. Harper, the Bank President, Must Serve Out

The President has again declined to interfere in the case of Edward L. Harper, late president of the Fidelity National Bank of Cincin-nati, convicted of a violation of United States banking laws and sentenced December 12, 1887, to ten years' imprisonment in the Ohio peniten-tiary at Columbus. His pardon is urged on the ground that he is dying of kidney troubles. The President indorsed the application as fol-

The Anti-Option Bill.

Some of the antagonists of the anti-option bill are saying that they have given up hope of defeating the measure and that it will be passed by the Senate in a few days. There is no by the Senate in a few days. There is no doubt, however, that if there is truly an earnest determination to kill the bill it will be a simple determination to kill the bill it will be a simple matter to do so. The opposition will talk against it as long as they can do so without appearing openly as filibusters. If after that they have a mind to filibuster in the open they can defeat the bill. The Senate is very backward with appropriation bills, which have been delayed on account of the anti-option bill. Three appropriation bills are now hurg up over there and in less than a week they will have three or four more from the House. If the anti-option bill is not disposed of by that time, it will be compelled to give way if the appropriation bills are to pass before the 4th of March. This situation makes it easy to beat the anti-option bill if filibustering is resorted to.

I also inclose reports of the physicians to the poor, made at my request, and the reports of Sanitary Officers Odell and Fitzgerald, who were detailed to investigate garbage complaints for two days. These petitions and my personal observations, and the many appeals personal observations, and the many appeals made to my department during last summer, induce me to believe that a daily removal of garbage is greatly desired by the Washington public, and as health officer I recommend and advise that an effort be made to obtain an appropriation sufficient to give this city a daily garbage service from May 1 to October 31 in the interest of sanitation and the city's welfare, provided a sufficient number of inspectors be appointed to enforce the garbage regulations, which is the only means of making the service entirely satisfactory and thereby promote the sanitary condition of the city. SCHNEIDER'S MENTAL CONDITION The Form of Inquiry Not Yet Decide Upon by the Court.

It was thought that the Court in General House of Representatives, when it was still last Term would this morning announce its decision Saturday. The House has been in recess since as to the form of the inquiry which it has Saturday and the legislative day has continued, ordered to be made as to the mental condition so that when Chairman Hemphill desired to of Howard J. Schneider, whose execution was claim today as District day in the House, under last week postponed from the 20th instant to the the rules, he found that Monday had not yet arrived in the House.

The quarantine bill occupied the attention of the House during the afternoon, and Mr. Holsion to the case.

It is thought that the delay was due to the fact that the experts in insanity who are expected to form the commission had not yet been finally determined upon by the court. It is understood that the court has about concluded to adopt the form of inquiry outlined in The Star a few days ago, viz: A commission of experts before whom, in Health Officer Hammett Recommends One
From May 1 to October 31.

Health Officer Hammett believes in a daily garbage service. Today he submitted to the Commissioners the reports of the physicians to the poor on this subject as well as the reports of the sanitary inspectors, who have been investigating garbage complaints for some days past.

In his letter the health officer says:

'I have the honor to inclose herewith numerous potitions and letters bearing the signatures of a large number of citizens and taxpayers residing in every part of the city, prayes the testimony of other witnesses examined during the inquiry. In other words that the court will reserve to itself the right of finally deciding the question as to the condemned man's mental condition.

L. A. Johnson, M. D.—"I do not think it necessary to have a daily collection of garbage from private dwellings."

C. V. Pettys, M. D.—If there was a tight receptacle at every house and convenient to be gotten at and promptly removed by the contractor, a service of twice a week would be sufficient even at hotels and restaurants. It think it would be wise for the department to contract for and furnish closed receptacles to every house and compel the occupants or others to pay for them at a reasonable price. The service would be at a minimum and expenses reduced.

W. D. Hughes, M. D.—A daily garbage service should be had at least in the summer months, Many houses have very small yards, and many none at all. In the hot weather garbage kept in the house is a constant menace to occupants and neighbors.

L. A. Johnson, M. D.—"I do not think it the death penalty to one of imprisonment in an asylum; hence it is claimed that should the court declare Schneider to be a same person and the President has no power to commute the death penalty to one of imprisonment in an asylum; hence it is claimed that should the court declare Schneider to be a same person and the President has no power to commute the death penalty to one of imprisonment in an asylum; hence it is claimed that should the court declare Schneider to be a same person and the President has no power to commute the death penalty to one of in an asylum; hence it is claimed that should the court declare Schneider to be a same person and the President has no power to commute the death penalty to one of in an asylum; hence it is claimed that should the court declare Schneider to be a same person and the President has claimed that should the court declare Schneider to be a same that the court declare Schneider to be a same that the Attorney is also that the Attorney of the court and the penalty to one of or question the prisoner could in that event only be sent to the prisoner could in that event only be sent to

R. D. Boss, M. D.—I consider a tri-weekly garbage service sufficient, except from hotels and large boarding houses, and during the months of July, Angust and September, when a daily collection is unquestionably necessary from a sanitary standpoint.

F. C. Ewing, M. D.—It seems to me that from November to April a semi-weekly service, religiously performed, should be sufficient, but later, when a chemical change, the result of heat, rapidly occurs, a daily service would imbed.

CALLAGHAN. On Sunday, January 22, 1893, at 2:30 cclock, Missing and Complete Com religiously performed, should be sufficient, but later, when a chemical change, the result of heat, rapidly occurs, a daily service would improve the sanitary conditions.

Joseph A. Mudd, M. D.—A daily service, with uniform regulations rigidly enforced, compelling easy access to garbage receptacles would be worth its cost.

J. D. Chappell, M. D.—A daily warvice is greatly needed. Any service less frequent will be detrimental to health and cause more or less annovance to the people.

J. W. Shaw, M. D.—Speaking strictly from a sanitary standpoint, the advantages of a daily garbage service over the previous methods can scarcely be estimated.

Allen Walker, M.D.—I have no hesitation in saying that in my opinion there is an imperative need of a daily garbage service within the city limits.

D. C. Stockstill, M.D.—My opinion as well as that of many of the profession is that a daily service is necessary, and the earlier we get it the better, as we are now approaching the summer months.

G. W. Birdsall, M. D.—I believe all that is necessary for sanitary purpose is a tri-weekly service under a proper inspection; without that a daily service would fail. Spend the money judiciously that would be required for a daily service, in providing inspectors for given districts, and make them responsible for complaints in their districts.

J. A. Watson, M. D.—I do not think a daily service necessary in winter months. For the rest of the year the service should be daily.

H. S. Goodall, M. D.—I do not think a daily service necessary in winter months. For the would be a safeguard to public health, at least thing the present year.

Wm. C. Woodward, M. D.—During the summer season a daily service might be of advantage, especially with hotels and large boarding houses. Public receptacles should be provided ordinary householders and they should be required to deposit therein. A daily service over the entire city is not necessary, nor do I consider it jutified by the expense, except in case of epidemic.

G. W. H. Fitch, M. D.—Garbage is a common medium for germs. If the receptacle is kept crowded the germs are rapidly reproduced. Hence, the more frequently the garbage is removed the better for the health of the people. Proper receptacles should be used, and disinfected when emptied. The advantage of a daily services are numerous.

Dr. Hammett submits also as stated, reports from sanitary inspectors showing the many obstacles in the way of the garbage collectors and that tend to prevent prompt collections.
